

As a resident of the Chicago, Illinois area I listen to the K-LOVE Radio Network at 94.3 FM. This station is my primary means of hearing family-friendly Christian music, news, weather, and Biblical teaching. Without K-LOVE the local community would be devoid of a source of programming that espouses family-friendly programming and that promotes such values as kindness, mercy, grace, love towards others, purity, peace, and being of service to others. If Low Power FM (LPFM) is allowed to take priority over current FM translator services, then this community could possibly lose this valuable resource. The translators that K-LOVE owns also provide the ability to listen to the same quality broadcast heard in the local community while traveling for business or pleasure because they can be heard in over 200 communities around the nation. I believe that the services provided by K-LOVE are in the public interest because they inform the community about local events, they encourage people to participate in local politics, they teach wholesome values that no American would be ashamed to espouse, and they broadcast excellent music with a positive message 24 hours a day.
